MOSUL PIPE-LINE CONTROVERSY.

FRENCH OBJECTIONS TO BRITISH SCHEMES.

SUEZ CANAL FEARS.

Certain circles in Paris are actively claiming a voice in the direction of the pipe-line from the Mosul oilfields to the coast.

Behind this question lies an important issue and an episode of the Paris Peace Conference, which has been fanned into one of the principal French grievances against M. Clemenceau, and periodically hurled at him insultingly.

Mosul, as the result of French successes in Syria, was expected originally to be included in the Syrian Mandate held by the French, and not within the Mesopotamian Mandate of Great Britain; but M. Clemenceau wanted to settle everything on behalf of France personally, without consulting any French experts on economic questions, confident that he was as capable of making a good bargain for France as Mr. Lloyd George was for Great Britain and President Wilson for America.

A "Gift" to Britain.

But while M. Clemenceau knew a great deal about ancient Nineveh he did not know that the region of Mosul included some of the richest oilfields in the world; and when Mr. Lloyd George, who had learnt everything about the oilfields, asked: "Do you mind if Mosul is incorporated in the Mesopotamian Mandate?" the "Kaiser" (M. Clemenceau's nickname) is stated to have growled: "Mosul! I do not know it. Take it."

Ever since the matter has been a sore point with France—it is among the main French grudges against Mr. Lloyd George—and they have made frequent efforts to obtain recompense for the error. Consequently, when M. Briand informed the Petrol Commission of the Chamber recently that he had reached an agreement with Great Britain, by which France would obtain a share of the Mosul oil output, amounting to about 1,000,000 tons a year, there was immense satisfaction.

But now some French commentators are disputing about the manner in which the petrol shall be conveyed to the coast from Mosul. Great Britain, it is stated, has proposed two schemes. Under the first, the pipe-line would pass Basra and end at the Persian Gulf, this base being of special advantage to Great Britain, as it would facilitate the revictualing of India.

Suez Canal Control.

The French objection is that this would compel the French oil-tankers to pass by the Suez Canal, where Great Britain would be able to exercise control over them.

The second British project is to carry a pipe-line across the Syrian desert to Haifa. This again is in the British zone, and is equally unwelcome.

What the French want is that the pipe-line should run from Mosul across the Syrian desert to Alexandretta, which is the French zone. They emphasise that this would need only 1,500 kilometres of pipe-line compared with roughly 2,000 kilometres for either of the British schemes.

But the main advantage to the French is that Alexandretta is only four days' sailing from Marseilles. This would clearly be a big gain in supplying Western Europe, but it is a corresponding disadvantage in regard to India.

Then there is the important point of protection of the line. Syria is tranquil at present, but it is not long since the French had a serious rebellion to handle there.

There really should be no fear about French oil-tankers passing by the Suez Canal. Clearly we are petrol-hungry by the Mosul arrangement, and such an alliance must be completely operative or completely broken.

MR. ARNOLD BENNETT'S LATEST BOOK.

GREAT FUN ABOUT A MILLIONAIRE.

A NEWSPAPER PROPRIETOR OF FICTION.

Mr. Arnold Bennett's new novel, "The Strange Vanishing Land," published by Cassell, is a light comedy-romance. Like "The Card" and "The Regent," it is a great fun, and makes brilliant serious studies of life and character, but that is not his mood here. What he has done is to invent a comic situation to play with it a most amusing game.

Captivating Miss Perkins.

The situation is that the great London financier, Mr. Septimus Southland, on the point of leaving Naples for England finds himself mysteriously kidnapped by the millionaire newspaper proprietor, Lord Furber, on the latter's palatial yacht, "The Vanguard." Quite accidentally, Lord Furber kidnaps at the same time a very charming and bright-witted young woman, Miss Harriet Perkins. How Miss Perkins captivates and "manages" for her own ends not only these powerful protagonists but everybody else who matters on the yacht—that is the material of the comedy.

No one can handle this kind of entertainment more deftly than Mr. Bennett. The situation moves with cushioned ease from one humour to another, and there is always an enlivening and splendid background—Naples, Rome, Monte Carlo and the yacht itself—to flatter the senses of the reader. The details, whether of the yacht's luxurious furniture, or of the ascent to the dome of St. Peter's at Rome, or of the International Sporting Club at Monte Carlo, are pictured with the loving skill which Mr. Bennett loves to lavish on his objective situations. These things are first-class.

The Five Towns Millionaire.

The millionaire newspaper proprietor is, of course, a familiar character in modern fiction. In being self-made, in nursing the delusion that he looks like Napoleon, in love of the possession and display of power and in autocratic temper, Lord Furber conforms to this fiction type; but Mr. Bennett breathes originality into him by making him a Five Towns man, with the quaint and stubborn humour of the hairy-chested social phenomenon. As we meet him first, he is "a cigar-smoking, carelessly-dressed gentleman of medium height, with a head of very considerable size, formidably gleaming eyes, untidy greyish hair and a welcoming, almost benevolent smile," who "sprang awkwardly out of an easy-chair, much too large for him." He had made his first million as a mechanical inventor at the age of 35. His peevishness soon followed, but the House of Lords, which made him richer than ever, so he bought newspapers, which made him more bored than ever.

BIRDS' TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT.

NO FOOD FOR 1,730 MILES.

An unprecedented flight of lapwings east to west across the Atlantic is reported from Newfoundland, and is the most remarkable instance of migration which ornithologists have encountered for many years.

The lapwing, or green plover, has been found as a single stray bird now and then in America, but the present was a mass migration. Mr. H. E. Whittierby, of High Holborn, London, who has for years conducted a ringing campaign in his researches into migration, said to a Daily Mail reporter:—

"If thousands of birds reached Newfoundland there could not have been many more thousands set out, and I am disinclined to believe that many perished. The birds must have flown with no rest or food for about 20 hours."

The lapwing's speed on the wing is about 40 miles an hour, but helped by a strong gale the speed might well be increased to 70 miles or more. The distance from Cork to St. John's is roughly 1,730 miles. It is significant that just before and during the severe weather last Christmas great numbers of birds, including many lapwings, passed westwards from north-westerly direction over North Wales.

HINTS ABOUT FINESSING.

FOR SERIOUS BRIDGE PLAYERS.

[By HUGH ELLIOT.]

A very common type of hand, in which players often go wrong is that where a finesse can be taken in two different ways.

Suppose, for instance, that the declarer holds A, K, x, x, x of spades, and dummy holds K, 10, x, x, there are three different ways in which the suit may be led. There are nine spades between the two hands, and the declarer may either lead out his ace and king of spades on the first two tricks in the hope of dropping the queen or he may play the ace on the first trick and finesse the 10 on the second; or he may play the king on the first trick and finesse the queen on the second. In different circumstances any of these three ways may be right.

If there has been no bidding and no clue to the adversaries' cards the correct course is to play out the ace and the king on the first two tricks. But if there has been any bidding, the case is immediately altered. If one "adversary" has bid no-trumps, he is more likely to have the queen of spades than his partner. If, on the other hand, one adversary has bid hearts, diamonds, or clubs, he is less likely to have the queen of spades than his partner, for his hand is marked with several cards of the suit which he has bid, and there is by that amount less room in it for the queen of spades.

Is There A Clue?

Before starting to play his spades, the declarer should therefore consider what clue he possesses as to the position of the Queen. If he has no clue, he will play out the Ace and King on the first two tricks. But if there is the least presumption that the Queen is in one hand rather than the other, he will assume that it is in that hand, and will finesse against it on the second round, if it has not fallen before the finesse becomes necessary.

Finessing against two cards introduces somewhat greater complication. If, for instance, the declarer holds A, Q, 10, x, x, of a suit with a few small ones in dummy, the best way to clear the suit is to finesse the 10 on the first round, and the Queen on the second. If these are nine or more of the suit between the two hands, the Q should be finessed on the first round, as that gives the best chance of establishing the suit without losing a trick.

This rule, again, only holds good in the absence of any information about the adversaries' hands. There are cases in which it is right to finesse the 10 on the first round, even if there are nine between the two hands. The reader will have no difficulty now in distinguishing these cases.

A Frequent Mistake.

While on the subject of finessing, I may perhaps be pardoned for mentioning a mistake, which is often made, although it is of a very rudimentary character. Where the declarer has A, Q, x, x, x, of a suit and his dummy has K, x, x, it is surprising how many people persist in leading the K through. The correct procedure, of course, is to lead a small one from dummy and to finesse the Q. If the finesse comes off, the A should be played on the chance of dropping the K, when the K becomes good in dummy, and the suit is cleared without the loss of a trick. If the K is led on the first round the suit cannot possibly be cleared without losing a trick: for it is bound to be destroyed by the K, whichever side the K may be, and either the first round will be won by the K or the third round by the 10. The K, therefore, should not be led from dummy unless it is backed by the 10.

Few rules in bridge are so adamant, however, as never to be worth breaking. The declarer holds Q and small ones in his own hand, with Ace and small ones in dummy, he would naturally never dream of leading the Q. But even this most rudimentary of all rules may rightly be broken at times.

Bluffing.

If the declarer holds Q, x in his own hand, with A, x in dummy, and wants to make two tricks in the suit he appears to be confronted with a hopeless proposition. The only course that would naturally occur to him would be to place the lead so that the adversaries will be compelled to lead the suit. But often this may be impossible, and a coup may then sometimes be brought off by boldly leading the Q. If the adversary on the left has K, x, x, he very likely will not cover, for he will see that his K must be good on the third round. If he retains it, he will assume that the Q is backed by the K, and it will not seem to him that the declarer is playing like a schoolboy on holiday. Such play is, of course, a bluff, but situations not infrequently arise where bluffing gives a chance that would not exist for correct play; and where there is nothing to lose, but something to gain, a bluff is always worth while. Evening Standard.

PRINCE ON TRADE OMENS.

ON THE UPGRADE AGAIN.

BRITAIN'S REWARD FOR HOLDING ON.

"We have started on the upgrade again," declared the Prince of Wales, who, in a speech at Birmingham, called attention to the brighter prospects for British industry.

The Prince, who was the principal guest at the annual dinner of the Birmingham Jewellers' and Silversmiths' Association, said:

Your industry claims to be one of the oldest, if not even the oldest, of human handicrafts. I have even seen it stated that in the history of civilisation ornament comes before dress. I would not like to say positively whether the idea of a pair of earrings sprang from the idea of a pair of trousers; but I most certainly noticed that whenever fresh fashions of the dark ages are dug up by archaeologists the evidence always goes to show that about the first job of the prehistoric craftsman was to turn to and make attractive ornaments for his lady friends.

Even before the latter had awoken to the decorative properties of diamonds or rubies they seem to have insisted on having necklaces made from the teeth of fallen enemies, or of the animal off which they had just dined.

"Rolled Shirt" Misery.

Ladies' fashions—deep waters into which I do not care to venture—must have been the hope and the despair of jewellers from time immemorial. I feel on safer ground in the matter of our own male attire. For example, we would not be wearing alerclinks if lace ruffles were to come in again; to balance this it is quite impossible to wear an elaborate watch-chain on a golf pull-over. That reminds me of another curious instance of how change in clothes affects the wearing of jewellery. Have any of you ever thought why all wear these stiff armoured shirtfronts?

I have been told the origin of this is this: about 100 years ago men wore soft pleated shirts in the evening, and then, when mangles were invented, it was found that the shirts were returned from the laundry with the buttons ground and broken in fragments. So stiff shirts were invented. But study won't stay put in a soft shirt, so our ancestors decided to have their shirts starched, and that, I believe, is the evolution of the "rolled shirt," which has caused us and, in fact, the whole human race, such untold misery.

Encouraging Trade Signs.

Observing that the fortunes of the jewellery trade were closely interwoven with those of the whole industrial community, the Prince continued:

I am happy to say that the year 1927 has realised some of the hopes with which it began after the long industrial struggles of 1926.

Employers and employed have come to see that, whatever differences there may be between them in matters of detail, their fundamental interests in large production and thriving trade are the same.

Evidence of this can be found in the trade returns for 1927 which were published the other day. These show that, despite the black spots still to be found on our business horizon, despite the handicap under which we restarted work at the end of 1926, when many markets had been temporarily lost, we have really wiped out all our deficit and have started on the up-grade again.

Another encouraging sign is that our imports of raw materials have been well maintained in recent months, a sign of good trade in the future, while reports as to the growth of our home trade are also distinctly encouraging. Our manufacturers and exporters are therefore in good heart and are looking forward to the new year in a mood of rational optimism.

The spirit of co-operation which was strikingly displayed at the recent meeting of representative employers and the General Council of the Trades Union Congress gives us the strongest reason to hope that a new era of prosperity is opening before us.

British Industries Fair.

Another happy sign is the tremendous demand for space at the British Industries Fair, which is due to open in your neighbourhood in the near future. From the experience of my previous visits to the Fair I know what an important event in your business year this Fair has come to be, and I take this opportunity of wishing it the success which it promises to achieve.

It is not necessary for me to say here, or in any other gathering, of my fellow-countrymen, how very earnestly I hope that (Continued on next column.)

LORD HAIG'S BELIEF IN VICTORY.

A TALE OF BLACK SUNDAY.

"BE NOT AFRAID NOR DISMAYED."

A remarkable story, revealing Earl Haig's deeply religious character and his calmness in face of possible disaster was told on February 1st by Professor George S. Duncan, of St. Mary's College, St. Andrews, who was Presbyterian Chaplain at the British General Headquarters in France from 1915 to 1919.

"There is one reminiscence of Earl Haig which so far I have regarded too sacred for print, but the time has now come when it may fittingly be made public," he said.

Out in France Earl Haig attended service regularly at 9.30 a.m. at a little wooden hut which served as the Presbyterian Church at General Headquarters. He was never absent if in the neighbourhood, but on that black Sunday following the outbreak of the great German offensive in March, 1918, he realised he could not be with us. He dared not leave his desk, I felt, or more probably he had gone forward to direct operations.

Resolute As Ever.

"I could not believe my eyes when he appeared outside as calm and resolute as ever, but on the ramparts of Montreuil we shook hands in silence and, scarcely knowing what I said, I expressed the hope that things were not too bad."

Quietly, but reassuringly, he replied, "They will never be too bad." No, I said, "you who were through Mons and Ypres in the first year will never think anything too bad after that."

And then, in a quick, in a language of a kind which I had never heard him use before, for though he lived his religion he did not talk about it, "This is what you once read to us from the Second Chronicles, 'Be not afraid nor dismayed by reason of this great multitude; for the battle is not yours but God's.'" (2nd Chronicles, Chapter 20, Verse 15).

With these words he passed in to the church. It showed an amazing power of detachment that on so critical a morning he could think of nothing as he did, two miles to attend a simple church service.

Out Of Human Hands.

"Perhaps that Biblical quotation," reveals something of his secret. The battle had passed out of human hands, but it was still in God's, and under God it depended on him more than any man. If defeat was to be turned into victory.

"Little wonder that he came to pray, and, as it happened, on that Sunday evening he did the biggest thing of his career, for, returning to Montreuil after midnight, after a fruitless consultation near Amiens with Marshal Petain, he immediately wired to London urging that steps be taken at once to secure a Generalissimo for the whole Allied front."

By so doing he made what, for a Commander-in-Chief, was the supreme sacrifice, but the line was saved."

these good omens may be fulfilled. We have sat long in the sombre darkness of post-war depression, and we have been deluded more than once by what has proved to be only a false dawn; we have learnt to mistrust the prophets, and Heaven forbid that I should try to prophesy.

But we have never lost hope; we have held on and grinned and borne it, and it may be that now we are going to get our reward. If so, I trust that your industry, gentlemen, and all who are concerned in it, may have an ample share.

Joe Chamberlain The Second.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the 29-year-old son of Sir Austin Chamberlain, delivered his first public speech in responding to the toast of "The Visitors." His father was present.

When the toast-master introduced him as "Mr. Joe Chamberlain the Second" the company accorded him an ovation. He said:

That a Chamberlain should be responding to the toast of "The Visitors" in Birmingham is surely unusual. I had always looked upon our family as part of the furniture of Birmingham.

When one travels abroad there seems no end to the things that are made in Birmingham. Last summer, in the Sunny South, I heard someone say that even our foreign policy is made in Birmingham.

If that is so, I have only one remark to offer, and that is that like most things that are made in Birmingham it seems, except to a disgruntled few, satisfactorily to stand the wear and tear of the world.

His happy little speech was cheered to the echo, the whole company, led by the Prince, standing and singing. "For he's a jolly good fellow."

ACID STOMACHS ARE DANGEROUS.

HOW TO GET QUICK RELIEF.

Indigestion is not only painful, but if neglected soon becomes dangerous. Excess stomach acid and fermenting food irritate the delicate stomach lining, form gas, and, by interfering with proper nourishment, actually break down health. The surest, quickest, and only logical way to relieve indigestion is to neutralize the acid and stop the food fermentation which causes it; and this instantly. HAD TO TIE BABY'S HANDS

Eczema Over Head and Face, Cuticura Healed.

"My baby had eczema when he was about six weeks old. It began with a little red patch, and spread until it was all over one side of his head and face. Sometimes it would be wet and then would dry up and scale over. It itched so I used to have to tie his little hands to keep him from scratching. He had it for six months."

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a sample. After the first dressing he got relief so I purchased more, and in a fortnight he was healed."

WELFARE WORK FOR BRITISH TROOPS IN CHINA.

THE Y.M.C.A. WITH THE SHANGHAI DEFENCE FORCE.

GENEROUS SUPPORT BY THE BRITISH PUBLIC.

The following very interesting account by Mr. Walter Ashby, M.A., of the work of the Y.M.C.A. for the troops in China has been received from the Y.M.C.A. Headquarters in London:—

On the eve of his departure for China, Major-General Duncan, the G.O.C. Shanghai Defence Force, expressed an urgent desire that the Y.M.C.A.—with whose work among British troops he was already well acquainted—would give their services to the men of his command.

The way in which his request was responded to, and the remarkably rapid development of the work which resulted, will surely prove to be one of the most romantic episodes in the history of the British Army since the War.

Although Y.M.C.A. responsibilities elsewhere, and particularly those involved in work for the troops on the Rhine, had exhausted all available resources, General Duncan's appeal, based as it was on high moral grounds, could not be set aside; and two experienced secretaries—Mr. Bernard Brown and Mr. D. G. Lees—were immediately dispatched by the quickest possible route to the scene of action.

Arrived in Shanghai, these two men lost no time in reviewing the most urgent needs of the situation. These they quickly perceived were the immediate establishment of Y.M.C.A. centres in the principal British camps within the Settlement. A certain amount was already being done elsewhere by public-spirited British residents in Shanghai; but this had not yet extended to the actual camps, where the need was greatest.

At the same time, Mr. Brown and Mr. Lees found that suitable buildings were extremely difficult to obtain and that the necessary minimum equipment could only be obtained on the spot at very high prices. They cabled accordingly for substantial funds to enable them to make a start.

Response At Home.

The Y.M.C.A. appealed to the public. The B.B.C. re-arranged their programme to enable Sir Arthur Yapp, its National Secretary in England, to broadcast an appeal. The press—in particular the Times, and the Daily News—threw themselves behind it. Sir Owen Seaman warmly supported it in the columns of Punch.

The response of the public was magnificent. By the first post after the Broadcast Appeal, nearly 2400 came to hand. Within an hour or two of reading of the need in the Times, Lord Incheape sent a cheque for £2,000. By the end of the week the total had reached £4,154. Within three days of the receipt of Mr. Brown's cable, the whole of the initial amount for which he had asked in order to make a start had been cabled out to him.

Two Camp Centres Within A Week.

The practical results of this whole-hearted generosity at once made themselves apparent. Before another twenty-four hours had passed, a further cable from China reported that the first two camp centres were actually open and going strong—within a week, that is, of the first arrival of the Y.M.C.A. in Shanghai. These were in the British camps at Yangtzepoo and Jessfield.

The same cable asked for games, magazines, books, and sports equipment. Once again, the response of the public was a splendid one. Messrs. Ayres, the Athletic Dealers, immediately arranged to dispatch to Shanghai a large quantity of footballs, cricket bats and other sports equipment. Books of all kinds poured in at London Headquarters. Large parcels were hurried to the docks and put on the first available boat.

A third centre had been opened, meanwhile, within the Settlement—the middle of the city, this time—and another cable brought urgent request for reinforcements in personnel. Apart from the three centres mentioned, work had already been started at isolated points with British marines, and on board the warships in the harbour.

Two further secretaries were, thereupon, released from their duties at home and asked to "stand by" ready to sail. The way in which they eventually did sail is of particular interest. About this time, it had been decided to dispatch a further Brigade of troops for service in China throughout the emergency. It was possible for the two additional Y.M.C.A. secretaries, Mr. Begg and Mr. Marks, to sail with them, there seemed no reason why their work should not start immediately on leaving England.

By the personal interest of the Secretary of State for War—the Right Hon. Sir Laming Worthington Evans—this far-reaching experiment was made possible; and the two "welfare officers," as he described them, sailed a few days later with a large number of soldiers on the transport Neuralia.

Gramophones, camp song books, boxing-gloves, and quantities of writing-paper for letters home were taken on board; and concerts, lectures and all manner of sports were the order of the day from the time of sailing.

General Duncan's Thanks.

Soon after this, the workers, both of the "home base" and in China, were greatly cheered by a message of thanks from General Duncan himself. "I am very glad you have arrived," he said, "the Y.M.C.A. is specially suited to do a work that no others can do. It is moral not physical dangers that our men have most to fight against here. You, I know from my knowledge of your work, can help them in this fight. The chaplains, I know, will be glad to co-operate with you."

Two temporary centres were next opened inside the British hospital. A sixth centre, one of the largest of all, was made possible by the generous loan by the Glen Line of part of their spacious premises on the Bund. A grant of 5000 from the Court of Common Council of the City of London enabled another fine hut to be erected on the race course within the Settlement, to be named the "Corporation of London Hut." Towards yet another hut, its erection, equipment and running expenses, the London Stock Exchange subscribed over £1,000. And the important work on the warships and for isolated units still went on.

Mr. Brown has unfortunately been obliged to return to his work at home. He has been succeeded by Mr. Ernest Lloyd, one of the Y.M.C.A.'s most experienced secretaries; who has just been joined by Mr. Stanley Walton, until recently Y.M.C.A. Secretary at Chatham.

In Hong Kong And Weihaiwei.

Meanwhile, Mr. J. H. Hunt, the Y.M.C.A. Secretary in Hong Kong, has not been idle; and two fine centres are busy serving the needs of our men in that great city. And a special off-shoot has also been opened for our men far away in Weihaiwei. In all, a dozen Y.M.C.A. emergency centres were opened for the men of the Force within a very short time of their arrival. Eight of these are still at the moment of writing "going strong."

All this it will be understood, costs money. Close on £10,000 has already come to hand. But much more is still required. It is estimated that the total expenditure involved in the whole undertaking cannot possibly be less than £20,000. Sir Arthur Yapp at Y.M.C.A. Headquarters, London, Mr. Lloyd in Shanghai, or Mr. Hunt in Hong Kong will be glad to receive any contribution, large or small, to help towards the maintenance of the work.

BRITISH PRISON SMUGGLING.

PARKEHURST OFFICER FINED.

Newport (I.O.W.).

"These officers are very difficult to detect. They gravely undermine prison discipline, and an officer who chooses to be dishonest can make money at it," remarked Mr. R. Pating at the Isle of Wight County Police Court when prosecuting for the Prison Commissioners a temporary officer at Parkehurst Prison named Harry Shumack, aged 45, who pleaded guilty to two offences against the Prison Act by conveying tobacco and a newspaper into the prison.

Accused, who had been in the prison service six years, and had previously a satisfactory record, was seen to place something under a cell door whilst on night patrol. The investigating officers found a piece of newspaper and a calendar for 1928 on the cell floor, and the accused admitted putting them there.

CINEMA NEWS.

"THE CIRCUS."

Charlie Chaplin's latest comedy, "The Circus," is to be screened at the Queen's Theatre to-morrow. "The Circus" presents Charlie in the guise of a first won him fame as a tramp attired in baggy trousers, with an ill-fitting coat and a cane. "The Circus" is a picture that could have been made by only one comedian alive and bears throughout the stamp of Charlie Chaplin.

It was mentioned in accused's favour that he had not previously been suspected of trafficking, and that he served in the South African War, being wounded in eleven places in one engagement.

He was fined £2 10s. or a month in default on each charge, the Chairman saying that the fines would have been much heavier but for his services to the country. It was stated that Shumack had already been discharged from the prison service.

LOCAL SHARE MARKET.

MORE ENQUIRY.

IMPROVEMENT IN BUSINESS.

Messrs. Benjamin & Potts, in their weekly report on the share market, dated yesterday, state: Since our last report of the 24th February, there has been a little more enquiry in the local market, and though the volume of business put through is not large, it shows an improvement over the last week. In the North, Cotton and Dock shares have strengthened and higher prices have been obtained.

Hong Kong and Shanghai Banks have kept fairly steady and were booked at $1210/$1215 ex the final dividend of 24 ($48.25) just paid. The latest called quotation from London was $1230.00 (Middle). Unions were favoured again and were bid up to $335.00. Canton advanced further to $250. Underwriters changed hands at $2.90. Hong Kong & Pines have firmed up to $700.

Hong Kong, Canton and Macao Steamboats are enquired for at $274, and probably a little more would be paid. Preferred Indos were taken off the market at $35. Waterboats can be placed at $20. Rowloon Wharves were dealt in at $137, ex the dividend of $8 just paid, and continue in demand.

China Provident were booked at $8. Hong Kong and Shanghai Hotels came to business at $8.70/$8. Hong Kong Land have fluctuated between $64 and $65. Hong Kong Trams were done at $23.50 at the outset, but have since firmed up to $24, ex the final dividend of 80 cents just paid. Star Ferries are quiet at $303.

China Lights (Combined) have recovered to a buying quotation of $17. Hong Kong Electric were negotiated to a fair extent at $72/$73. Hong Kong Telephones were done at $4.35 with buyers at $4.40. China Stevedores were dealt in at $10.40 and $10.

Green Island Cements (Combined), after having receded to $114, have firmed up again and buyers are now offering $11.30. Hong Kong Ropes (Old) fetched $9.70. Dairy Farms were bought up to $204. Lane Crawfords changed hands at $3.35 and $3.50. Watsons at $121 mark a rise. Amusements closed appreciably higher at $30.

Evos have had a sharp rise and deals were made up to $18.70. Shanghai Cottons have also hardened and were placed at $15.50 closing with buyers at $16. Orientals were put through at $18.5. New Engineering were dealt in at $14.60 ex the dividend of 40 candareens just paid. Shanghai Docks have advanced to $100.

THE SINGAPORE TRACTION COMPANY.

FINANCIAL LOSS THROUGH BOYCOTT.

The report of the Singapore Traction Co., Ltd., for the year ended September 30th, 1927, shows that profits underwent a serious reduction. After applying 2944 3s. 3d. in writing off expenses of issue of debenture stock and £1,700 off the preliminary expenses, and transferring £20,000 to depreciation and renewals account, there remained a sum of £2,387 7s. 9d., which the directors recommend be carried forward. No remuneration for the year is payable to the Electric Construction Co. as managers.

Of serious effect upon traction profits was a boycott of the cars by a large section of the Chinese community, following local disturbances in March last. It had the immediate effect of reducing the weekly traffic receipts from an average of $18,000 to less than $7,000. The process of building up traffic, although practically continuous, was slow and was scarcely completed by the end of the financial year. It is estimated that the Company suffered under this head a loss of gross revenue to the extent of $150,000. Traffic receipts since the close of the financial year show a satisfactory tendency.

BEVAN TO BE RELEASED.

FINANCIER CONVICT'S NEW HOME.

Gerard Lee Bevan, the City financier, will be released from Maidstone Prison towards the end of this month. Bevan was sentenced to the Old Bailey on December 6th, 1922, to seven years' penal servitude on charges of issuing false balance sheets, publishing a false prospectus, fraudulent conversion, and obtaining money by false pretences in connection with the City Equitable Fire Insurance Company, of which he had been chairman.

Work In Prison.

Since his conviction Bevan has been working as a compositor in Maidstone Prison, and his conduct has been so satisfactory that he has earned a remission of three months of every year of his sentence. He will therefore be entitled to his release five years and three months after the date of the opening of the Old Bailey Sessions at which he was convicted.

DUTCH VIEWS ON RUBBER RESTRICTION.

CO-OPERATION WITH BRITISH WELCOMED.

SUGGESTION OF SALES ORGANISATION.

BATAVIA, Feb. 23rd.

It is learned that Dutch-Indian rubber circles are generally unfavourable to restriction, declaring that even when directors in Europe support restriction there still remains the difficulty of inducing native producers to give their support.

It is considered absurd to bind the European producer while native production escapes all control, especially in view of the uncertainty regarding production costs of native rubber.

Now that the native producer is considerably better situated, both financially and economically, it is not known what price could influence native production.

The Asiatic Agency representative at the Hague sought the views of the directors of leading companies regarding restriction.

The directors of Kendenglemboe favour Dutch and British co-operation on the question. The Hessa Rubber Company would like to see the establishment of a sales organisation, not originating from Government, coupled with export measures regarding native rubber. The Linkungan-Borneo Rubber Co. and the Malabar Rubber Co. favour co-operation between the Dutch and British Governments, the appointment of a sales commission and the restriction of new plantations.

The Java Rubber Co. would like to see the replacement of the Stevenson scheme by sales of organisation.

The Gogo Nitt would welcome effectively controlled restriction, high export duties on native rubber, and the co-operation of Dutch and British against the American Rubber Pool.—Straits Times

LEPROSY TREATMENT.

HYDROCARPUS PLANTED IN THE STRAITS.

The annual report of the British Empire Leprosy Relief Association states that stations for the treatment of leprosy with hydrocarpus oil are being established throughout the Empire.

This oil is an extract from the dried fruit of the hydrocarpus tree. Its efficiency in the treatment of leprosy was discovered by Dr. Muir, of Calcutta, the great authority on leprosy, and it is considered to be the most encouraging advance yet made in this subject.

The hydrocarpus tree has been planted at the female leper asylum on the Yio Chu Kang Road, Singapore, and at the Pulau Jerejak asylum, Penang. The seeds were obtained from the F.M.S. Agricultural Department, who are growing the tree at their experimental gardens, and eventually it is hoped to supply Malayan needs entirely from local sources.

The hydrocarpus treatment has been given to lepers in the Straits for some time past, the oil being obtained from India, and it is proving very effective, a number of patients being discharged as cured every year. The treatment is particularly helpful in the early stages of the disease.—Straits Times.

The Daily Express understands that Bevan has intimated to his friends that he intends on his release to leave England and make his home near Biarritz.

Early-Morning COUGH!

THOSE exhausting bouts of early-morning cough are terribly weakening and they do grave injury to the tissues of the chest. The bronchials soon get into a semi-inflamed state, and neglect generally ends up with an attack of bronchitis or bronchial asthma.

Make it a habit every morning when getting out of bed to slip a handy Peps into your mouth; take them at night to soothe the throat and chest and prevent coughing.

You breathe in "Peps" fumes as a tablet dissolves in the mouth and they banish coughs and colds by going directly into chest and lungs. "Peps" has the influenza and cough-torn membranes. They soothe and disinfect the throat and extend a germicidal and strengthening influence over the entire bronchial system. A Peps in your mouth prevents harm from dusty germ-laden air.

PEPS
is the most effective and most effective than any other remedy for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, influenza, bronchitis, and all other ailments of the throat, chest and lungs.

At chemists and all good grocers and druggists.

ROUND THE POLICE COURTS.

A NUMBER OF LARCENY CASES.

HARBOUR ROBBERY RECALLED.

The Kowloon Magistrate (Mr. W. Schofield) had a busy time yesterday dealing with a large number of cases of theft. At the afternoon session, an "an" San Yau, an engineer of the launch Chiu Foo, was charged with being an accomplice in the armed robbery which took place on board the steam launch No. 10 on October 10th last year, when gold ingots to the value of $33,000 were stolen and the launch beached opposite the Ming Yuen Gardens.

Mr. A. J. W. Dorling for the prosecution, stated that, acting upon information received the defendant had been arrested by the Canton Authorities and handed over to the local police.

Mr. Dorling called a witness who stated that he had been convicted as an accomplice in the same robbery. He had agreed, on being asked while in prison, to give evidence in this case. Further questions were put to witness who proved, however, extremely unwilling to say anything and repeatedly said that he could not remember any of the incidents that had happened. After a long and fruitless examination Mr. Dorling said to his Worship that the case depended entirely on the evidence of this witness who was now refusing to say what he knew.

Mr. Dorling asked if he could be allowed time in which to consider the case and his Worship agreed to a remand until next Monday morning.

FIVE KOWLOON THEFTS.

Five larceny cases came before Mr. W. Schofield among the defendants being a small boy. He was charged with the theft of $1.50 from a woman's cigarette stall in Shanghai Street. Defendant's plea was that another boy stole the money and gave it to him. His Worship held this plea to amount to an admission of the offence of receiving stolen property and remanded the boy until this morning for enquiries to be made concerning his relatives and previous history.

For stealing three planks from No. 120, Kowloon Tong, a Chinese was sentenced to three weeks' hard labour, with the option of a fine of $15.

A carpenter employed at the Kowloon Docks pleaded guilty to the theft of two brass articles valued at $10. According to the police, the man was arrested in Shanghai Street with the stolen articles. Defendant was fined $50, or one month's hard labour.

The theft of a blanket belonging to a pawnbroker living on the first floor of No. 34 Temple Street, Yau-mat, formed the subject of a charge against a Chinese. While being escorted to the police station by a detective, the prisoner escaped, but was caught by a pedestrian after a chase. It was thought that the man entered the flat by climbing a drain pipe. Defendant was sentenced to one month's hard labour.

Mr. E. F. Brown, mechanic of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade gave evidence in support of a charge against a Chinese of theft of a metal bush from an engineer's shop at No. 10, Tung Street, where it had been left for remounting. Defendant was alleged to have stolen the article during a visit to the shop and taken it to a marine hawker. A fine of $50 was imposed, with the alternative of six weeks' hard labour.

TOOLS THAT COULD BE USED AS WEAPONS.

In charging two men before the Kowloon Magistrate with possession of tools that could be used for improper purposes, Sergeant Macdonald stated that they were stopped on Prince Edward Road for search. The first defendant, seen to throw a chisel away, and the other man followed his example by discarding a file resembling a three cornered dagger.

Asked why he had thrown the chisel away, the first defendant said he had never been searched before and he thought it might be illegal to carry a chisel.

The Magistrate did not consider the reply at all convincing and defendant was sentenced to six weeks' hard labour.

To the second defendant his Worship said: "This is an offensive weapon. It is not a file, but a dagger."

Sentence of three months' hard labour was imposed.

ALLEGED FRAUDS ON EDUCATION DEPARTMENT.

Pan Tai Shing, alias Pan Ng Ching, a clerk employed at Queen's College, was charged before Major C. Willson on six counts of attempting to defraud the Director of Education.

It was alleged that the defendant obtained various sums of money by falsely purporting that certain vouchers and bills were true. A week's remand was granted on the application of Mr. Leo d'Almeida, a Castro, for the defence.

THEFT OF ELECTRIC WIRE.

ARREST BY ALERT DETECTIVE.

CLERK GETS BENEFIT OF DOUBT.

A Chinese detective named Lor Hoi who evidently goes about his duties with his eyes wide open was instrumental in bringing a Chinese to book for stealing 36 pounds of electric wire from the Hong Kong Electric Company at West Point.

From information given by the arrested man, a Chinese clerk employed by the Electric Co. was also taken into custody. Both men were charged before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, Mr. Horace Lo appearing for their defence.

Mr. G. Hailey of the Hong Kong Electric Company said in evidence that the clerk, Yu Kin Sang, was in charge of the wire and stand at West Point Sub-station and had been on that job for the last two years. The defendant, however, had no authority to take any wire out of the store on that particular day, February 28th.

A coolie employed by the Company said that on the day in question, he was assisting a fitter in High Street. He had occasion to go back to the Sub-station to get something, and was asked by the clerk to take the 36 pounds of wires to An Tak's (second defendant) house, at No. 20, Yu On Terrace. An Tak was staying with the clerk.

Witness said that when he entered the house, he gave the wires to An Tak, who took them into the kitchen to weigh them. Witness felt suspicious about the matter and stayed to watch An weigh the wires. Just then Chinese detective came in and arrested witness and An.

In answer to Mr. Lo, witness said that while he was in the store room with the clerk, he did not hear the telephone ring. He also denied that the clerk went into the inner room to answer the telephone and left him (witness) there to help himself to whatever he might want.

Mr. Hailey for the prosecution, at the request of Mr. Lo, He said that there was a telephone on the top floor of the building but that anyone in the store room, which was on the ground floor, would not hear if the telephone bell rang.

Lor Hoi, a Chinese detective said that he was on duty at about 10.45 a.m. in Yu On Terrace. He noticed a Chinese pass by with a coil of wire, and having been previously asked to keep a look-out for electric wire thieves by his superior officer, he at once became suspicious.

He saw the man entering house No. 20. Witness followed and when he got inside the house, he found the carrier and another man (the second defendant) in the kitchen. The second defendant was weighing the wires with a pair of scales. He asked the second defendant where the wires had come from and was told that the wires had been brought to him for sale. He took both men into custody. The Chinese, it was thought that the man entered the flat by climbing a drain pipe. Defendant was sentenced to one month's hard labour.

The first defendant's version of the story was that the coolie came to him for something. He unlocked the door of the stores and told the coolie to take what he wanted. While the coolie was opening a tool box, defendant heard the telephone ringing and went away to answer it. He was mounting to the second floor when he heard the door downstairs being opened.

After the telephone call, defendant went to the first floor and had a talk with the foreman. Later Mr. Brown, a superintendent, came into the office to examine the workmen's chart. He left and defendant had entirely forgotten the visit paid to him by the coolie. He was only reminded of the incident when accompanied by the coolie, the detective came in to arrest him.

The second defendant said that the coolie had taken the wires to him to weigh and that he did not know where the wires were going after that. He had never told anyone that he wanted to buy wires. It was only a favour he did to the coolie to get the wires weighed.

Mr. Lindsell imposed a sentence of six weeks' hard labour on the second defendant. In giving the benefit of the doubt to the first defendant, his Worship said that he believed the man was guilty and an accomplice in the theft, but fortunately for him there was no corroboration of the two witnesses' stories.

STREET USED FOR LAUNDRY PURPOSES.

Four women were charged before Major C. Willson with causing obstruction at a street fountain in Wanchai. A police officer stated that these people often allowed the water to run to waste, and scattered soap suds round the street fountain, making the pavement very dangerous to pedestrians.

The women pleaded that they were unable to wash their clothing at home owing to the water restrictions. They were fined $2 each.

ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE.

YESTERDAY'S PRIZE DISTRIBUTION.

THE WARDEN'S REPORT.

The distribution of prizes won during the past scholastic year by students of St. Stephen's College was held yesterday evening in the great hall of St. Stephen's Girls' College. Mrs. Mok Kon Sang presented the many prizes, certificates and medals to the scholars.

The "A" orchestra opened the proceedings with an overture which was much enjoyed, despite the fact that the players were, with the prizes, screened behind a red curtain. The Rev. E. W. L. Martin, M.A., the acting Warden, then read his report of the school work during the last year.

THE REPORT.

The year 1927 has shown an increase in boarders, the number now being 87, out of a total of 160 boys. Many day-boys will become boarders, I believe, when larger accommodation is provided.

The Chinese studies are improving under the organisation of Mr. A. Ling, B.A., the Chinese headmaster, and we have again to thank Sir Shou Son Chow for so generously donating special prizes to encourage the Chinese studies of our students.

In English studies there have been successes in different branches such as electricity and magnetism, arithmetic and English, in all of which distinctions were awarded to our students in the recent Matriculation and Senior Examinations. Wan Tso Shing should be congratulated on his distinction in English, which is not easy for Chinese students to win. Among the Junior candidates, Ling Sung Kui, son of the Chinese headmaster, should be mentioned for distinctions in arithmetic, science, and Biblical knowledge.

Sports Successes.

Our tennis team defeated a strong C.R.C. team. The only defeat of the season was by the University, which was considered pardonable. We were glad to see our Old Boys winning all the University Tennis Championships this year. We warmly welcome back from England as sports master and mathematics master the Rev. E. R. Quick, M.A., who takes over the duties of Mr. T. J. Price, B.Sc., who has recently left.

Other Activities.

The Free Night School, in which our own students act as teachers, has carried on another year of most useful work. Mr. F. A. Britton, M.A., is adviser to this school.

The Christian Union Committee, now with Rev. H. S. Wittenbach, M.A., as adviser, has taken weekly collections for various charities, and explained to the students the work done by local institutions such as the Tung Wah and Netherland Hospitals, the Chinese Leprosy Society, etc. Many of our old boys are taking a leading part in charitable and public services.

The Social Committee, of which Mr. C. H. Tam, B.A., and Mrs. Martin are members, completed its year's work by organising a "Students of 1927 Concert" for the Building Fund. The Committee are to be congratulated on raising the sum of $2,500 for the New Buildings.

Twenty-fifth Year Of The College.
The year 1928 is the Twenty-fifth Year of the College. To celebrate this occasion the Old Boys Committee are arranging a dinner for Tuesday, April 3rd, which they hope all old boys who can do so will attend. It is also hoped to arrange some other form of celebration later in April to which all who are interested in the welfare of the school may be invited.

Vote Of Thanks.

Following the distribution of the prizes a very arduous task considering their number, the Rev. E. W. L. Martin rose to offer a vote of thanks to Mrs. Mok Kon Sang. He said that he hoped that Mrs. Mok would one day do them the honour of distributing prizes in their new premises, and he hoped that she would suggest to her husband that the great hall of the future building should be named after him. (Laughter.) "Mrs. Mok," he went on, "is well known as a generous and hard-working person, and the Yok Chi Girls' School, and St. Stephen's, felt very proud that she had consented to distribute their prizes this year." A vote of thanks to Mrs. Mok Kon Sang was very heartily accorded by all present.

Concert.

A concert for the most part sustained by the students of St. Stephen's College followed. The Chinese music and play were especially popular, though every item received applause. The programme was as follows:

1. Overture "A" Orchestra
2. Comic Song "The Students"
3. Violin Solo "Mr. J. Braga"
4. Chinese Music
5. Chinese Song "Mr. Lu Man Shing"
6. Chinese Play "The Students"
7. English Music "A" Orchestra

DHATER ROAD.

MOTOR CYCLE TRIAL.

ABOUT FIFTY RIDERS.

FURTHER DETAILS OF THE ARRANGEMENTS.

There will be about fifty riders in the motor cycle reliability trial, organised by the Motor Cycle Section of the H.K.V.D.C. which will take place a week to-morrow. The response has been very satisfactory and there is every indication that this first trial will prove a big success.

There will be four observed hills, the first being Reservoir Path on the first lap. The first check will be at Aberdeen, also on the first lap, and approximately 17 miles from the start. Competitors will be required to stop and sign at the Aberdeen check. There will be no further observed hills or checks until the end of the first lap at Garden Road. A check will be taken there but competitors will not be required to stop. They will then have covered roughly 20 miles.

On the second lap Reservoir Path will be observed and the check on this lap will be at Repulse Bay. Here competitors must halt and sign. This is about 45 miles along the course. Competitors will carry straight on, following the course to Garden Road, where there will be another check, approximately 59 miles along the course. At this check, however, there will be no stopping, riders going straight on following the course up to Peak Road which will be an observed hill. Dairy Farm Hill will also be observed but there will be no known check in the third lap until Statue Square is reached, the end of the lap. Competitors will halt there and will remain for about half an hour.

Fourth Lap In Darkness.

The fourth lap, to be covered in darkness, consists of a run round the island. On this lap competitors will be required to check and sign at Repulse Bay. The trial ends at the Volunteer Headquarters, where the checking in time of all competitors will be noted. This is the end of the course, a distance of about 98 miles having been covered.

In Case Of Breakdown.

Although hints will be given to competitors before the day of the trial those who have entered are reminded that in the case of a breakdown they should get their machines in to the side of the road and thus prevent forced stops by competitors following on behind. To claim a haul it will be necessary for competitors to see that their number is taken by a marshal, observer or other official.

Any competitor who finds himself unable to continue at any part of the course and decides to give up is asked to hand his number plates in to an official. This will avoid confusion and simplify the work of observers and marshals.

During the week, members of the Committee will attend on two evenings at Volunteer Headquarters to distribute route cards and number plates. All competitors will be advised when these are available. The trial will probably start about two o'clock, the brake test being held before the actual start. Competitors will leave at minute intervals from Volunteer Headquarters.

THE POLICE FORCE.

OFFICERS LEAVING AND COMING.

SUB-INSP. HOPE INVALIDED HOME.

When the s.s. Macedonia leaves here to-day for Home, she will take with her several members of the Hong Kong Police Force who are either going on leave or have been invalided Home through illness.

Among the latter will be Sub-Inspector Hope of the Water Police. This officer has been with the Force for the last ten years and during the time he has been here, he has won a large circle of friends. He first joined the Force in December 1917 as a constable. He was promoted to sergeant in July 1924. In April last year he was made a sub-inspector.

Sub-Ins. Hope has always been a most useful policeman. In August 1925, he was responsible for running to earth a gang of counterfeiters at Tung Lung Island. Two men were arrested and subsequently imprisoned. A large amount of counterfeit money and several pieces of counterfeit gold were taken by the Police. This seizure and the arrests of the two men broke up the gang. Sub-Ins. Hope was warmly commended by the Captain Superintendent of Police.

Sub-Ins. Hope has been in hospital for some time suffering from arthritis.

Sergeant E. Wakelan, who had been with the Force for only two years, is also being invalided Home.

Other Police officers going on Home leave by the s.s. Mongolia, Chief Detective-Inspector T. Murphy, Sub-Inspector Brennan, Sub-Inspector A. Nicoll, Sergeant E. J. Field, and Sergeant T. Daly.

MR. HAYNES' TWO CASES.

ALLEGED WRONGFUL IMPRISONMENT.

DATE OF HEARING FIXED.

The case in which C. M. Houghton, Suen Kam Shun and L. E. Haynes are being sued for $1,000 damages for alleged wrongful imprisonment was again mentioned in the Supreme Court yesterday morning.

Mr. A. el Arculli, for the plaintiff, asked Mr. Justice Wood to fix a date. His Lordship said that he would take the case on Friday, March 16th, but Mr. Haynes said that he was before the judge on March 15th in the matter of a libel action against Mr. G. W. C. Burnett, and that he would like a short interval between the two cases, both of which he was conducting himself.

His Lordship, Subject to the Criminal Sessions being over I will take it on March 20th.

Mr. el Arculli said that he particularly wished to have the case heard before the Sessions.

His Lordship said that there was no hurry. It was only a claim for damages, and Mr. Haynes' application was a reasonable one. I will provisionally fix this hearing for Monday, March 26th.

Measure in its new form will be re-introduced into Parliament. We are now presented with an amended Prayer Book to be known as the "Prayer Book Measure, 1928," and the "Amended Deposited Book." The principal changes are on the lines generally expected.

One of the prayers for the King—which were Occasional Prayers—will be used optionally in the revised version rejected last December—must be said at Morning and Evening Prayer, or in the Holy Communion Service if it follows. The "Black Rubric," condemning adoration of the Sacrament, is to be inserted at the end of the alternative Holy Communion Service; and a set of rules concerning reservation, printed originally on a pink slip for the guidance of Bishops, now becomes part of the new Rubric. The power of Bishops to make rules having the force of rubrics has been rescinded in the Amended Measure.

Will these alterations meet the objections of opponents of Prayer Book revision? We are bound to say on the latest information that reaches us that there is very little prospect either of a lessening of controversy or of a smooth passage of the Deposited Book. The Evangelicals are again putting on their armour, and in due course they will give battle. One of the leaders of this section, Dr. Barnes, the Bishop of Birmingham, has thrown down the gauntlet. He describes the new revision as "gravely inadequate," and predicts that the House of Commons must of necessity reject the Measure. His principal objection is that the Bishops have refused to insert in the new Book a simple statement of the doctrine of Holy Communion; to exclude it from the place where worship customarily takes place; and to forbid indication by a lamp or otherwise of the place where the consecrated elements might be reserved. Thus, he contends, all the abuses connected with continuous reservation become possible, even though the Bishops refuse a licence to reserve.

Opinion in England appears to be growing that the Measure as now amended will never receive sanction necessary to give it legal authority. It seems probable that the Amended Deposited Book and the new Measure will be opposed in all their stages in the most strenuous manner, and will be attended by difficulties at least as great as those which beset the old Measure and the Deposited Book. The idea prevails that the Bishops want to force the proposals through again with quite trivial dilutions. The alterations that have been made satisfy nobody. They fall short of what the Anglo-Catholics demand, and they are repugnant to the Episcopal party. The restoration of the "Black Rubric" would be more important had it not for long been ignored by a powerful section of the Church. It is thought that the restoration to its proper place of one of the Prayers for the Royal Family has a somewhat petty air when considered as a serious attempt to placate the large measure of distrust and indignation felt by many loyal, susceptible Churchmen.

It is unfortunate that the country is to be plunged again into religious controversy, but this seems inevitable, especially in view of the publication of the Report of the Malines Conversations on Church Reunion. The Conversations took place between Roman Catholics and representative Anglicans at intervals from 1921 to 1923, the latter attending with the "friendly composure" of the Archbishops of Canterbury and York. The Report tells of agreement come to on the question of the Mass accepting the doctrine of the Real Presence, and also acknowledging the Pope as having "a primacy among all the bishops of Christendom." Naturally this has roused the Protestants all over the country. The atmosphere in which the Amended Book must seek approval where previously it found rejection is less favourable to compromise than was formerly the case. Loyal Churchmen at home and abroad can only pray that guidance may be vouchsafed to those responsible for the forthcoming deliberations on the Deposited Book, and that all who profess and call themselves Christians may rule their conduct and measure their words in the light of their own faith.

The wedding announced to take place between Miss Hilda Mary Leach, of Cambridge, and Mr. Leonard Warren, of Shanghai, will be solemnised at St. John's Cathedral at 11 a.m. to-day.

We regret to announce the death of Mr. Oswald Balean which occurred at Newalappitiya, Ceylon, after an operation. Mr. Balean was only 45 years of age and was a brother of Dr. Balean, the well-known local medical practitioner, for whom much sympathy will be felt.

Mrs. Diana Watts, who is staying in the Colony for a few days only, is giving a lecture and demonstration at St. Stephen's Girls' College on Monday afternoon next at 4.30 p.m. on "The Principles of Greek Balance." Mrs. Watts gave a similar lecture in the City Hall some time ago when she visited Hong Kong, which was highly successful and very much appreciated.

The January and February number of the Yellow Dragon, the very well produced magazine of Queen's College, contains some unusually interesting articles. School affairs are related at length and of genuine interest to all botanists is the installment of Mr. Crook's article on the flowering plants of Hong Kong. The account of the debate "That was unnecessary" makes very good reading, notably the spirited defence of the martial spirit in these "pacifist times!"

TREES IN STATUE SQUARE.

A VETERAN FALLS.

Statue Square has lost one of the family of trees which form an avenue along the pavements and during Spring time delight the eye with their pink blossoms.

These trees have for years been tended with great care but one of the oldest among them, in the row near Queen's Building was lying on the ground yesterday, the props put up to protect it proving of no avail as decay had started at the roots.

FEBRUARY RAINFALL.

The record of rainfall at the Botanic Gardens states that 3.57 inches of rain fell during February. Of this 1.31 inches fell on the 26th, .80 in. on the 12th, .73 in. on the 28th and .55 in. on the 27th.

There were 19 entirely fine days and just a sprinkling of rain on six others. Twenty-four fine days out of 29 leaves very little to grumble about.

WEATHER REPORT.

Yesterday's weather report, forecast and remarks, issued by the Royal Observatory at 6.30 p.m., stated:—

Depressions are shown over SAT. Japan and over S.W. China. An anti-cyclone is forming over N. China. The monsoon will set in again along the S.E. coast of China and over the N. China Sea.

Local Forecast: Light variable winds, freshening from N.E. later; fine to cloudy.

ROUNDING UP THE REDS.

CANTON GOVERNMENT'S SUCCESS.

TO CLEAR HAINAN, HAI LUK FUNG AND NORTH RIVER DISTRICTS.

SETTING THE CURRENCY RIGHT.

[FROM OUR CHINESE CORRESPONDENT.]

The Canton Government is now making a big military effort to clear Hainan, and the Hai-Luk Fung and North River districts of the Communists, who have infested these places and set up a reign of terror under the name of a "Soviet Government." General, Fan Shih Shang is in charge of the North River campaign and has already won several important engagements. Yan Fa city, which is not far from Shuiwan, has been recaptured and the anti-Communists are now retreating to the mountains bordering Kwangtung and Hunan. The North River situation, according to reliable information is well under control.

The bandit-Communists in the Hai-Luk Fung districts, where a sort of Soviet government has been inaugurated under the notorious Communist Pang Pai, are now being hemmed in from all sides by Government forces. Two armies under General Chen Tai Tang and General Chen Tai Chun respectively are attacking them from the East and the North, while the Canton Military Council has ordered the 5th Army to advance from the West. In order to cut off every avenue of retreat, the Military Council has ordered several gunboats to assist the land forces along the East River.

General Tang Yin Wah, acting Commander of the 1st Army and concurrently chief of the Municipal Bureau of Public Safety, will personally lead his soldiers in the campaign in the Hai-Luk Fung districts. He will leave Canton with his army to-day (March 3rd) or soon after. Meanwhile, he has tendered his resignation to the Municipal Government as head of the Bureau of Public Safety, on the ground that he cannot hold both positions at the same time, especially as he will be away from Canton for some time. But Mr. Lin Wen Koi, head of the Canton Municipality, has so far refused to accept his resignation. It is learned, however, that should the General insist, General, Tsiang Shih Ting, the present Garrison Commander of Canton, may succeed him as head of the Bureau of Public Safety. In the meantime the citizens of Hong are preparing a farewell demonstration for the troops of General Tang Yin Wah.

The Political Council of Canton has placed on record its hostility to the Tariff Conference, proposed by Mr. Edwards, Chief of the Chinese Maritime Customs, between the Nationalist Government of Nanking and the Peking Government. The Canton Council has wired to the Government at Nanking denouncing the proposal on the ground that it would confer financial aid on the Northern militarists. The message adds that such a conference would be a tacit recognition of the Peking faction and tend to the prolongation of militarism in China.

General Wu Teh Chen, head of the Department of Reconstruction of Kwangtung, has been named to succeed Mr. Ko Shing Yuen, who had resigned, as Chairman of the Canton Municipal Kuomintang. Whether or not the General will accept the chairmanship remains to be seen.

THE CURRENCY.

The Kwangtung Treasury Department is taking every step it can to bring the Chinese Bank of China notes up to their face value. In addition to the two million dollars stored away on Saturday, the Department sealed yesterday afternoon in the presence of the representatives of the four merchants' associations another million dollars in notes. Recalling notes from circulation at this rate, coupled with the offer to exchange a limited amount of notes for silver coins should, according to local finance authorities, bring the notes up to par within two months. Moreover, the Provincial Treasury Department has ordered the various local taxes and district revenues which are in arrear as well as all unpaid rental assessments must be paid this month and in Central Bank of China notes. It is estimated that the land taxes alone will amount to 14 million dollars and it is hoped that about half this sum will further be put to reserve.

All municipal taxes, police assessments and other revenues, should they be over $10, must be paid in Bank of Canton notes according to a Government Order effective from yesterday. This institution has, it will be remembered, made an issue of notes in denominations of $100, $50, $20 and $10 upon security of unimpeachable reliability. The municipal finance bureau have been instructed not to receive payment in this issue, except small amounts which can be paid in coin.

This will force most people to get Bank of Canton notes in exchange for the depreciated Bank of South China notes.

GENERAL TANG SENG CHI RE-ENTERS THE POLITICAL ARENA.

REPORTED AS BEING "ACTIVE IN SHANGHAI" MAY BE COMING TO HONG KONG.

REAL OBJECTIVE OF CHIANG'S VISIT TO SHANGHAI.

PEKING GOVERNMENT REPORTED TO BE SEEKING PEACE.

FENGTIENESSE TO ATTACK HONAN FROM THREE POINTS.

General Tang Seng Chi who, previous to his hurried departure for Japan some months ago, was fast becoming a power in Hupeh and Hunan, has ventured to return to China and is reported to be in Shanghai. The vernacular newspapers state that he intends again to "emerge" from his recent obscurity and take an active part in political and military affairs. He appears still to retain considerable influence. It is stated that Marshal Chiang Kai Shek's "real object" in visiting Shanghai on the 1st inst. was to meet General Tang. It is also reported that Tang may soon visit Hong Kong, for what purpose is at present unknown.

While the vernacular newspapers report that the Peking Cabinet are seeking peace, the news is also to hand that the Fengtienese troops intend to attack Honan "in three directions."

MARSHAL CHIANG IN SHANGHAI.

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. Yesterday morning, Marshal Chiang Kai Shek arrived at Shanghai. After visiting his mother-in-law he had a long conversation with Mr. T. V. Soong and General Chu Pei Teh. Accompanied by his body-guard he proceeded to Hangchow, capital of Chekiang, on the following morning.

The "Real" Object Of His Shanghai Visit.

According to an unofficial report Marshal Chiang's real mission to Shanghai was to see the ex-Hankow leader, General Tang Seng Chi, and to raise funds for the expedition expenses.

GEN. TANG "EMERGES."

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. The ex-Hankow leader, General Tang Seng Chi, after a long period of retirement in Japan, is reported to have been very active recently, and has been called upon by a certain political clique to emerge again. He is now in Shanghai and is expected to come to Hong Kong in a few days, for what purpose is at present unknown.

MARSHAL FENG AND TAIMING.

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. It is reported that Taiming, in Southern Chihli, has been captured by Marshal Feng Ya Hsiang troops. The report, however, has not yet been confirmed.

WHAT GENERAL PEI DECLARES.

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. General Pei Chung Hsi declares that Hunan will soon be restored to normal, and he expresses the hope that he will be able to lead the "Western Expeditionary" Army to participate in the Northern Expedition.

Hunanese Troops' Retreat.

The Hunanese troops, under Generals Li Tai Ping and Chen Kai Yu, captured Shengsheng on the 28th ult., while General Ho Chien's troops retreated westwards.

THE FENGTIENESSE AND PEACE.

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. According to a semi-official report the Fengtienese authorities are working for peace with their adversaries. A declaration has been drawn up and will perhaps soon be issued.

It outlines the Peking Government's desire for peace and that all parties should sink their differences and present an united front to foreign nations. It also urges that a national convention for the purpose of electing a president and establishing a central government really representative of the whole country is urgently needed.

NORTHERN ARMY TO ATTACK HONAN.

(Wah Tsai Yat Pao.)

SHANGHAI, March 2nd. Generals Chang T'ung, Chang Chu Yu, and Sun Chuan Fang have decided to march into Honan in three directions, namely, from the Kin-Hai Railway, Taiming and Western Shantung.

KING AMANULLAH'S VISIT TO ENGLAND.

AIR DISPLAY IN HIS HONOUR.

HIS MAJESTY MAY MAKE A FLIGHT.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 2nd.

King Amanullah's next engagement, after the conclusion of his brief state visit to the King and Queen, will be to a comprehensive air display, which will include the inspection of all branches of military and civil aviation.

Full details of the programme have not yet been arranged but it is understood that they will provide for the visit of the King and his suite to Buckingham Palace, where the largest technical school of aviation in the world is situated.

After its inspection, King Amanullah will proceed to London where, at the Royal Air Force Headquarters, a display of formation and "stunt" flying will be given. If time permits and other circumstances are favourable, the King will then visit Croydon where he will have an opportunity of studying the advances made in civil aviation.

The new terminal buildings at Croydon Air Works are now in use and these will be inspected together with the wireless controlled light-houses and other direction finding services. Representative commercial machines will also be inspected and a special exhibit of the rapidly widening uses of air survey will be arranged in one of the rooms in the terminal block.

Among the machines on view will be De Havilland Moths and Avro Avian aeroplanes. Possibly, King Amanullah will make a flight during his visit to Croydon.

THE R.A.F. FLYING BOAT CRUISE.

CONGRATULATIONS FROM SECRETARY FOR AIR.

WHAT THE FLIGHT DEMONSTRATES.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 1st.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary for Air, has sent the following telegram to Group Captain Cave Browne, the Officer Commanding the four Supermarine Southampton flying boats which have just reached Singapore on their cruise to the Far East. "I warmly congratulate you and all under your command on the highly successful completion of the first 11,000 mile stage of your flight. The punctuality with which you have adhered to your time table reflects the greatest credit on all concerned and demonstrates convincingly the important role which the flying boat can fulfil in the Empire both for defence purposes in time of war and in developing air communications in time of peace."

CANADA AND ORIENTAL IMMIGRATION.

PLEA FOR GREATER CONTROL.

DISASTROUS EFFECTS OF MIXED MARRIAGES.

(REUTERS' AMERICAN SERVICE.)

Victoria, B.C., March 2nd.

The Legislative Assembly in the course of discussion passed a resolution urging the abrogation of the Anglo-Japanese Treaty as far as it related to the right of Provincial Governments to enact anti-Oriental legislation. They further requested the Federal Government not to grant any further naturalisations to Orientals.

Mr. Manson, the Provincial Attorney-General, suggested that all members of the Assembly should unite in preparing a resolution pointing out to the Federal Government the seriousness of the Oriental immigration question. He said that the "greatest danger that was threatening was the disastrous intermixture of races through intermarriage. The situation must be met promptly."

LORD CHANCELLOR UNDERGOES AN OPERATION.

FAVOURABLE REPORT.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 2nd.

The Lord Chancellor, Viscount Cave, who underwent an operation yesterday, is reported to have passed a comfortable night.

[Viscount Cave, who has held the great office of Lord Chancellor since 1922 (with the exception of the brief period of the Labour Administration) is 71 years old.]

RUBBER.

DUTCH MEETING PROPOSALS.

CEYLON SUGGESTION.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

Amsterdam, March 1st.

Practically all the producers, including the large companies, were represented at the Dutch Rubber Growers' meeting.

It appears that some advocated the formation of a rubber selling centre, others the introduction of a sort of valuation scheme. Another group favoured co-operation with British producers in order to devise means for effective restriction.

All the proposals were lengthily debated.

M.P.'s suggestion.

London, March 1st.

In the House of Commons, Mr. A. E. Townend (Labour, Stockport) asked the Government to invite the Governments of Holland and the United States to co-operate in a scheme for adjusting the production of rubber to the world demand at prices to be agreed upon by producers and consumers. Sir Austen Chamberlain (Foreign Secretary) replied that pending the report of the Research Committee the Government did not propose to institute such negotiations.

A Ceylon View.

Colombo, March 1st.

A member of the legislature, Mr. Obeyesere, has given notice of a motion in Council recommending to the Government the urgent desirability of acceding to the general desire in evidence in the country for the removal of the present restriction on the exportation of rubber.

DUTCH RUBBER CROWERS.

APPEAL TO GOVERNMENTS UNNECESSARY.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

The Hague, March 1st.

A communiqué issued at the conclusion of the meeting of the Dutch Rubber Growers states that a large majority favoured mutual co-operation. They felt that there was no need to appeal to the Governments of Holland and the Dutch Indies.

The meeting appointed a committee of seven who had the interests of Dutch rubber growers at heart, which in case of necessity would initiate negotiations with foreign growers and consumers. Herr Knappert of the Hague was appointed secretary.

THE EL DORADO.

SOUTH AFRICA "NOT PAVED WITH DIAMONDS."

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

Cape Town, March 1st.

At the resumption of the diamond debate, Mr. Beyers stated that in addition to the Government's hundred claims at Alexander Bay, the whole adjoining area, containing approximately 20,000 claims was the richest. He had personally picked up diamonds worth $200 in an hour. The Government intended to declare the whole area "state diggings." If the Government acted otherwise it would mean forcing large quantities of diamonds on the market which was most undesirable.

Replying to letters expressed by the Opposition that the overseas Press would be filled with blazing headlines conveying the impression that South Africa was paved with diamonds, Mr. Beyers said that he had not meant that he could find $1,000 worth simply by picking them up. If any such idea had arisen from the debate, he asked to correct it.

THIRTEEN KILLED IN A GERMAN SHAFT.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

Berlin, March 1st.

Thirteen miners were killed and thirty-five taken to hospital as the result of two cages falling down a mine shaft at Recklinghausen.

MOTOR AND RAILWAY RIVALRY.

AN INTERESTING DEVELOPMENT.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 1st.

An interesting development in the growing rivalry between motor road transport and railways is contained in a statement that plans have been drawn up for the building of a great motor-coach station in the centre of London. This station is to have arrival and departure platforms for about eighty coaches running express services to all parts of the country in competition with the railways. The financial correspondent of the Evening Standard, who makes the announcement, says a site has been purchased near Russell Square. It is anticipated that the station will occupy the same position in motor transport services as does one of the great termini in railway services. It is not stated whether any individual company is responsible for the scheme but it is intimated that co-ordination and building of large central stations the motor-coach services as a body hope to consolidate their position before the railways receive new powers for road transport from Parliament and to build up an organisation so complete and efficient that they will be able to take still further traffic from the railway companies.

The purposes of the fund are explained in a statement signed by Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Jellicoe, in which it is stated that:

"The Government have decided to establish a memorial to Earl Haig. The memorial which, we are confident, would have appealed most to Lord Haig is that of homes adequately endowed in various parts of the country for the use of ex-servicemen of all ranks, their widows and orphans."

SIR AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN OFF TO GENEVA.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Sir Austen Chamberlain will leave London tomorrow to attend a meeting of the Council of the League of Nations at Geneva. He is expected to be absent from London for about a week.

U.S. NAVAL ARMAMENTS.

RANGE OF NEARLY 19 MILES. BRINGING SHIPS UP TO DATE.

(REUTERS' AMERICAN SERVICE.)

Washington, March 1st.

The Naval Committee of the House of Representatives has reduced the demand of the Wilbur appropriation from $34,670,000 for renovation of five capital ships to $14,800,000.

Mr. Britten, Republican member of the Naval Committee, announced that the Committee had decided that part of the reduced appropriation be applied towards increasing the range of the main armament of the battleships Pennsylvania and Arizona by 10,000 yards. These ships have twelve 14-inch guns with a maximum range of 15 degrees elevation reported to be 21,000 yards.

The 16-inch guns of the latest United States battleships have an elevation of 30 degrees and an extreme range of 33,300 yards. Mr. Britten pointed out that the change would prevent those two ships being outranged by those of any other Power, and would also make the extreme range of the main armament of all United States battleships approximately equal.

DUTCH ABROAD.

TAXES AFTER DEATH ON ESTATES?

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

The Hague, March 1st.

The Second Chamber has rejected by 50 votes to 30 the first article of a Bill to tax Dutch nationals domiciled abroad on their estates after death and gifts by them.

SOUTH AFRICA'S TRADE COMMISSIONERS.

STATUS RAISED.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

THE PROPOSED HAIG MEMORIAL.

NATIONAL APPEAL FOR £500,000.

HOMES FOR EX-SERVICE MEN, WIDOWS AND ORPHANS.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

London, March 1st.

A national appeal has been published, signed by Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Lloyd George, Earl Jellicoe, the Chiefs of Staff of the Royal Navy, the Army and the Royal Air Force, for £500,000 to provide and endow homes for ex-servicemen and their widows and orphans in memory of the late Earl Haig.

Funds will be controlled by national trustees of whom the Prince of Wales, the Prime Minister, the leaders of the Labour and Liberal Parties will each nominate one.

FURTHER DETAILS.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 2nd.

The appeal for £500,000 to establish homes for ex-servicemen and their dependants, which was launched to-day at the Mansion House, was attended by Prince of Wales and the Premier.

The purposes of the fund are explained in a statement signed by Mr. Baldwin, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. Lloyd George and Lord Jellicoe, in which it is stated that:

"The Government have decided to establish a memorial to Earl Haig. The memorial which, we are confident, would have appealed most to Lord Haig is that of homes adequately endowed in various parts of the country for the use of ex-servicemen of all ranks, their widows and orphans."

SIR J. SALMOND.

TO ADVISE AUSTRALIAN AIR FORCE.

AIR DEFENCE AND ORGANISATION.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

London, March 1st.

The Air Ministry announces that in response to a request by the Australian Government for the loan of the services of a senior officer in the Royal Air Force to advise regarding air defence, the organisation of training and equipment in the Australian Air Force, arrangements have been made for Air Marshal Sir John Salmond to visit Australia this summer and stay three months.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Arriving in June.

The Air Ministry announces that a request has recently been received from His Majesty's Government in the Commonwealth of Australia for a loan of the services of a senior officer of the Royal Air Force to advise them on the air defence of the Commonwealth and on the organisation training and equipment of the Royal Australian Air Force. Arrangements have accordingly been made for Air Marshal Sir John Salmond, Air Officer Commander-in-Chief of Great Britain, to visit Australia this summer. Air Marshal Salmond is expected to arrive in Australia about the middle of June and will stay there about three months.

FILM CENSORSHIP.

QUESTIONS IN THE COMMONS.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

London, March 1st.

In the House of Commons several questions were put to the Home Secretary suggesting "in view of recent events," the desirability of appointing an official film censor.

Sir W. Joynson-Hicks replied, expressing the opinion that the present system generally secured an adequate standard.

R.A.F. CAMPAIGN.

800 AKHWAN RAIDERS KILLED.

(THROUGH REUTERS' AGENCY.)

Bahrain, March 1st.

It is claimed that during the past fortnight the Royal Air Force killed at least eight hundred Akhwan raiders by bombs and rifle fire.

The R.A.F. is carrying out a daily campaign in the desert but the difficulties of detecting raiders are enormous owing to mirages and sandstorms.

(BRITISH WIRELESS SERVICE.)

Rugby, March 1st.

Important changes in the Army are announced by the Secretary for War in a memorandum accompanying the Army Estimates which, as stated this morning, amount to £41,000,000 sterling or a reduction of £515,000 sterling compared with last year. It is shown that the Army is becoming smaller in numbers and machines are to a greater extent than ever taking the place of men and horses. The regular Army for the coming year is to be 153,500 men as compared with 166,500 for 1927 or a reduction of 13,000. A decrease of 13,500 is accounted for by the smaller number of troops employed in China, the withdrawal of coast defence troops from Bermuda and Sierra Leone, reductions in British Army on the Rhine, reorganisation of troops in Egypt and economies resulting from continued revision of establishments at home and abroad. During 1927 one medium brigade of Royal Artillery has been withdrawn from the Mediterranean to Great Britain and one infantry battalion has been brought home from the Rhine. The remaining decrease of 600 is due to a reduction in Indian troops employed in the Middle East from 2,000 to 1,400.

The strength of the Territorial Army on January 1st, 1928, was 6,584 officers and 132,323 other ranks compared with January 1st, 1927. In regard to mechanisation, the memorandum states that considerable advance has taken place in the provision of armoured fighting vehicles and more especially in those for use with the experimental mechanised force on Salisbury Plain. In addition satisfactory results, produced by the use of six-wheeled lorries, have led to their introduction in increasing numbers. In view of lessons learnt during the last year it has been decided to increase the number of medium and light tanks as funds permit to supply armoured cars for certain cavalry units and gradually to provide lighting and other mechanical vehicles required by all units. Re-design of equipment is keeping pace with progress in mechanisation. Medium artillery is all to be mechanized and five brigades at home will be equipped on the higher or lower basis. Experiments are also proceeding with artillery of lesser calibre both for close support and for anti-tank work. Experiments are in progress with a new gun for the Royal Horse Artillery and with a new field howitzer while minor improvements in other nature of armaments are in train.

BOXING.

HEENEY DEFEATS DELANEY ON POINTS.

(REUTERS' AMERICAN SERVICE.)

New York, March 1st.

Tom Heeney, the New Zealander, weighed in for tonight's 15-round heavyweight contest at 198 lbs., while his opponent, Jack Delaney, was 176 lbs.

If a knock-out is delivered the winner will meet Tunney for the title in June.

Heeney won on points.

Heeney's "Bulldog" method.

New York, March 2nd.

Heeney's bulldog method overcame the faster and subtler Delaney, who afterwards groggily paid a tribute to the New Zealander's ability and sportsmanship. Heeney won because he was the aggressor throughout, although his margin of points was of the narrowest.

LOCAL FOOTBALL.

FIXTURES FOR TO-DAY.

KOWLOON F.C. v. THE CLUB.

The following games are down for decision to-day—

H.K.F.A. CHALLENGE SHIELDS.

Juniors: Semi-finals.

Kick-off at 2.15 p.m.

K.O.S.B.'s Res. v. St. Joseph's.

Kowloon Reserves v. China Athletic Reserves. H.K.F.C. ground. Referee: Pipe-Major Mackie. Linesmen: Pte. Lamb and Gr. Kinsella.

Seniors.

Kick-off at 4.15 p.m.

Kowloon F.C. v. Hong Kong F.C.

H.K.F.C. ground. Referee: Capt. Austin. M.C. M.M. Linesmen: Messrs. Prealey and Cowan.

HONG KONG LEAGUE.

Division I.

Kick-off at 4.15 p.m.

R.A.F. v. K.O.S.B.'s. Chatham Road ground. Referee: Mr. Smith.

Division II. "A."

Kick-off at 2.45 p.m.

South China "A" v. University.

Caroline Hill ground. Referee: Mr. Samy.

The games between the Hong Kong Police and the R.A. and Club de Recreation and China Athletic are postponed.

Notes On The Games.

With the Police v. R.A. and the Club de Recreation v. China Athletic games postponed, there are only two senior games down for to-day.

In the Shield semi-final, the Hong Kong F.C. and Kowloon meet on the Club ground. These old rivals at football should be a great draw, especially as this is the only senior game on the Hong Kong side.

In the League games this season, Kowloon have secured full points. They are favourites to-day, but how far the Club can extend them is awaited.

The Club's tactics in mid-week with the K.O.S.B.'s put the military team out of the competition and with loss to-day, the Club may repeat the mid-week result. Wallington, the Club's right back, is due to leave the Colony to-day, and it is not yet certain who will partner Black.

Two Junior Shield games are down for to-day and both should be keenly contested. On the Kowloon F.C. ground, the League leaders are up against St. Joseph's. "A" and judging by league form, the K.O.S.B.'s should win.

On the H.K.F.C. ground, the Athletic are playing Kowloon Reserves. Kowloon are old shield fighters and like their seniors are not defeated until the final whistle sounds. The Athletic make their first appearance in the semi-finals. A good game should be seen and the result is very open.

The Shield games will be forty-five minutes each way, and extra time, if necessary.

Only one senior league game is scheduled and that on the Chatham Road ground at Kowloon between the R.A. and K.O.S.B.'s. This game should be closely contested, but the K.O.S.B.'s are fancied as winners.

In the junior "A" division, the University visit Caroline Hill where they meet South China "A." The University expect to finish the season, this being their last league game, with a win.

YESTERDAY'S GAMES.

TWO ARMY VICTORIES.

The following are the results in the United Services Finals—

Juniors.

Scots Guards, 3; H.M.S. Argo, 1.

Seniors.

K.O.S.B.'s, 3; H.M.S. Titan, 0.

The military teams tested the distance better than the Navy teams and won on their merits.

K.O.S.B.'s v. "Titan." After holding the K.O.S.B.'s in the senior game of the United Services at Sookunpo yesterday for seventy minutes, the Titan's team went to pieces and the K.O.S.B.'s put on three goals in the last twenty minutes. In the first half, the game was interesting, both teams giving a good exhibition of the game and contesting every minute. Corners were frequent but fruitless. Anderson was beaten out when he fell but just managed to get the ball away as Kernick arrived. Brockman kept a good goal but on the whole shooting was much below the standard of these teams. The seniors made two last minute chances, while the K.O.S.B.'s played off their full league team.

Playing a blank first half, the teams kept up the pace in the opening minutes of the second. Barkham, at back for the seniors, had played a brilliant game in the first half but an injury early in the second half lowered his standard of play. Farlow was outstanding in the seniors' team. A change came over.

CRICKET.

TO-DAY'S MATCHES.

The following is the last of matches for to-day—

League: Division I.

Royal Navy v. University.

Kowloon C.C. v. Chinese R.C.

Friendly.

Civil Service v. Hong Kong C.C.

Policemen v. H.M.S. Tamar.

University v. H.K. Electric Co.

Recreation v. China Light.

To-morrow Match.

H.K. Electric Co. v. Recreation.

H.K.C.C. 1st XI. v. C. R. SAYER'S XI.

This game takes place on the Hong Kong Cricket Club ground at 2 p.m. to-day.

H.K.C.C.—H. R. B. Hancock (capt.), T. E. Pearce, A. W. Hayward, Rev. E. K. Quick, H. Owen Hughes, C. D. Wales, Capt. A. G. Dobbie, N. Thorpe, O. Moor, E. R. Duckitt, and K. H. Batger.

H.K.C.C. 2nd XI. v. CIVIL SERVICE 2nd XI.

This game takes place at Happy Valley to-day at 3 p.m.

H.K.C.C. 2nd XI.—J. M. Owen, J. E. Hancock, L. A. R. Duncan, S. J. Jordain, J. R. Collis, E. B. West, F. L. Thomson, A. W. Brown, H. M. Spence and two others to be selected.

The game when Alexander scored the first goal, sending the ball into the net from a well placed corner by Campbell. Within two minutes, the ball was again in the Titan's net. Brockman met a wing shot from Campbell and turned the ball out. Goal meeting it returned it into the net leaving Brockman helpless.

A flash by the sailors was easily defeated and Baker and Barkham were hard pressed. Alexander drew Brockman out of goal and then shot into the net. The final whistle sounded shortly after, the K.O.S.B.'s winning by three clear goals.

The game was witnessed by a large attendance of the Services among those interested were H.E. Major-General C. C. Luard and Mr. Luard.

Scots Guards v. "Iroquois."

This game started at 2 p.m., the great heat affecting the players both the game was half through. The Guards had the advantage in height and soon got into their stride, Rae and Hackett scoring in the first ten minutes. The sailors then played up strongly and scored through West.

Crossing over a goal down, the Iroquois got off with a rush and it was any one's game for the first twenty minutes of the second half. The sailors had no less than six corners in this period but the Guards headed out the flag kick. A goal by Creney put the issue beyond doubt for the Guards and when the final whistle sounded they were leading by three goals to one.

Presentation Of Cups And Shields.

At the close of the senior game, the teams formed up in front of the covered stand. The Rev. F. Alexander, C.F., Chairman of the United Services Football Committee, asked H.E. Major-General C. C. Luard, C.B., C.M.G., to present the trophies. Before making the presentations His Excellency remarked that each final had one team of the Navy and one of the Army. He had witnessed the senior game throughout and it was even up to a certain point. The better team had won. He thanked the Officials and Committees for running and organising the competition. The G.O.C. then handed the senior shield to C. S. M. Anderson, K.O.S.B.'s, and the junior cup to L/S. Nelson. Scots Guards, congratulating them on the success of their teams. A silver cup was presented to each member of the K.O.S.B.'s and Scots Guards teams. The Rev. F. Alexander thanked the General for presenting the trophies and called for three cheers for His Excellency.

KOWLOON F.C. v. H.K.F.C.

Wood (captain) and Clarke; Roberts, Biss and Dunnott; Ellis, May, Gates, Tisman and Blacklock. Reserves: Spary, Eastman and Slipper.

LAWN TENNIS.

ANOTHER FAVOURITE EXTENDED.

MAJOR STEVENSON BEATS HUMPHREYS.

That the young players of the Colony are rapidly improving is shown by the results of the first two days' competition in the Open Singles Championship of the Colony. On the opening day Cassumbhoy ran Honda to five sets and yesterday Cheng Chi Wing distinguished himself by carrying Ng Sze Kwong to five sets. Their performances give much food for thought and it remains to be seen how their young competitors will fare later.

A good many matches were decided yesterday. There was very keen play, though in two instances the winners outclassed their opponents. On the whole play reached a high standard.

Chief interest centred in the tie between Ng Sze Kwong and Cheng Chi Wing, which turned out to be a long drawn out struggle. Familiarity with each other's play—they are club mates—perhaps prolonged the struggle, but it can safely be said that Cheng gave his more experienced opponent a much better game than was generally expected of him. The younger competitor played with much vitality and withstood the ex-champion's attacks very skillfully. At the same time he was not slow in seizing opportunities and went out to kill whenever there was an opening. Towards the end, however, the pace began to tell upon him and he fell off considerably in the final set. Ng Sze Kwong did not seem to take his opponent seriously in the beginning, no doubt being the superior player, but found he had to extend himself fully in order to win. He played his usual brainy game and gradually wore down his opponent.

Each set was, however, splendidly fought out. The first set which went to Ng Sze Kwong at 7-5 was suggestive of the struggle to follow. Cheng did extremely well in winning the next two and some brilliant play was seen in the fourth set in which both gave good exhibitions of court craft and tactics. The ex-champion being cleverer won the set after 5 all was called. Cheng made a last effort in the opening of the final set and had the lead at 3-2, but Ng Sze Kwong exerting himself at this stage brought the match to a close by taking the next four games in convincing manner.

Another Good Struggle.

Another splendid struggle was seen in the match between Lim Peng Chin, the University champion, and F. J. Remedios. The players were well matched and there was little to choose between them. Both were inclined to be erratic and misjudged on numerous occasions. The Portuguese gave the better all round performance but Lim's tenacity in retrieving difficult shots won him the match. He pulled up splendidly at 6-3 (one set all), when within a point of losing the third set, drawing even and then winning the set. After that he carried Remedios off his feet.

Ho Ka Lau and Rev. F. P. W. Alexander secured easy wins, while H. D. Rumjahn beat Inagaki in straight sets.

Club Singles.

Of importance in the Club Singles Championship was the victory of Major Stevenson over A. D. Humphreys in the second round. A high standard was maintained throughout and long rallies became a feature of the match. The Major's better stamina gave him a decided advantage and after a hard struggle for the first set, he took the second without much difficulty. Humphreys' chop strokes gave the winner a good deal of trouble.

The tournament will be continued on Monday and the detailed results of yesterday's matches were:

Open Singles.

Ng Sze Kwong beat Cheng Chi Wing, 7-5, 4-0, 4-6, 7-5, 6-3.

Ho Ka Lau beat E. W. Railton, 6-1, 6-0, 6-1.

Rev. F. P. W. Alexander beat H. R. Trumper, 6-3, 6-1, 6-0.

H. D. Rumjahn beat N. Inagaki, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

Y. Sakai beat R. P. Lopadale, 6-4, 8-6, 8-2.

Lim Peng Chin beat F. J. Remedios, 1-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-1.

A. D. Humphreys w.o. from Ng Sze Kwong.

Club Singles.

Major W. B. Stevenson beat A. D. Humphreys, 7-5, 6-3.

Handicap Singles.

Dr. C. B. Burton (rec. 15/1) beat M. D. Scott (rec. 5/6), 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

RACING NOTES.

KWANTI STEEPCHASE MEETING.

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS.

[BY RAPHER.]

The 'chasing' at Kwanti will no doubt attract a big crowd this afternoon as the conditions are ideal for a day in the country. The usual facilities for transport are available and leave little room for improvement. The pari-mutuel and cash sweeps will be in operation; the course is in an excellent state and everything points to a pleasant Saturday afternoon's sport. There is a race specially for Officers of the Scots Guards and the regiment will no doubt be well-represented.

Not knowing where the ponies are going makes the tipster's task a trifle difficult. However, if those concerned do not send their ponies out where I suggest that is their own look out. The ponies selected by me should be watched wherever they go.

RACING UP-TO-DATE.

Full particulars of all previous racing at Kwanti will be on sale at the Course at the nominal price of $1. It is a useful little book and includes to-day's programme. The proceeds go to help cover the cost of feeding the horses and it is hoped that this will materially help the sales.

HOCKEY.

K.O.S.B.'S BEAT THE CLUB.

The Hong Kong Hockey Club "A" team played a hockey match with the King's Own Scottish Borderers at King's Park yesterday.

At the interval neither side had scored, the game up to this stage being evenly contested and the goalkeepers had saved some hard shots. In the second half the Club failed to hold the soldiers who scored two goals before the close.

THREE-EYED MONSTER.

FOSSIL A HUNDRED MILLION YEARS OLD.

A new specimen of a prehistoric beast has been acquired by the Natural History Museum.

A workman's pick recently turned up a three-eyed Plesiosaurus in the Red Triangle Quarries at Harbury, Warwickshire. Professor W. E. Swinton, of the Department of Geology at the Natural History Museum, is now examining the new find, the age of which is estimated at between 100,000,000 and 200,000,000 years.

The Red Triangle Plesiosaurus is a rare example, said Professor Swinton. "In that the head was attached. Generally the head is missing from such finds. One theory is that roving dinosaurs, who were carnivorous but rather stupid hunters, used to eat dead or dying aurochs they found, and generally detached and lost the heads."

"The Plesiosaurus' head is triangular, and has a third eye on top of the skull. The vestige of this remains in man in the form of the pineal gland."

"When this fossil was found the head was stained red. So well preserved is the fossil that it has all its teeth. It is sixteen feet long, an unusual size, for the majority found have been only eight feet long."

"The Plesiosaurus, which belongs to the lizard family, lived on fish. It has a long neck, short tail, and four paddles. This specimen, which was dug out of a bed of lower lias clay, was lying on its stomach. It may have died when England was at the bottom of the sea, or when it formed a sandbar, which the reptile crawled out to die."

UNIVERSITY BOAT RACE.

CAMBRIDGE'S KEEN WORK.

RETURN OF LETCHWORTH.

CAMBRIDGE.

The Cambridge University crew have been rather unexpectedly strengthened by the inclusion of T. E. Letchworth (Downside and Christ's), who rowed No. 2 in last year's winning crew, and who came into the boat for the first time to-day, says a Home paper. Letchworth, who jumped into prominence by winning the Colquhoun Sculls, is an oarsman of more than average merit, and pulls a splendid blade. He did not come into residence last term, and although he came up this term, it was very doubtful at first whether he would be able to spare the time to devote to rowing in the University crew, as he is taking a tripos examination next term, which demands constant study. However, difficulties have been surmounted, and after getting it with some sculling exercise, he took his seat at No. 3 in place of R. A. Symonds (Lady Margaret) who is also a Colquhoun winner.

The work during the past week has been of a particularly arduous character, and the crew have had to contend with a strong stream and fresh headwinds. They rowed the Long Reach on Wednesday and gave a good account of themselves, and on Thursday they undertook the extended journey below locks to Claythorne and back, a distance of about ten miles.

This trip proved to be rather adventurous, for upon attempting to turn the boat, the strong stream running at the time forced both ends of the boat on to the bank in a rather narrow portion of the river, with the result that the crew were stuck fast, unable to move either one way or the other, and eventually the coxswain had to go overboard and release the stern of the boat to allow it to swing round.

Their trip to Cambridge that day caused some consternation at the Goldie boat-house, but beyond rather more mud than usual, the boat was none the worse for the mishap.

Amended order of rowing and latest weights: E. Norman Butler (Eton and Trinity) (cox), 11 st. 5 lb.; N. M. Aldous (St. John's, Leatherhead, and Selwyn), 11 st. 7 lb.; T. E. Letchworth (Downside and Christ's), 12 st. 5 lb.; R. Beesly (Gumley and First Trinity), 12 st. 11 lb.; H. W. Warner (Harrow and First Trinity), 12 st. 1 lb.; J. B. Collins (Eton and Trinity), 14 st. 2 lb.; J. C. Holcroft (Radley and Pembroke), 12 st. 9 lb.; B. J. Ellis (Charlborough and Trinity Hall) (stroke), 11 st. 8 lb.; A. L. Sulley (Denstone and Selwyn) (cox), 8 st. 6 lb.

OXFORD IMPRESS.

THE QUESTION OF STROKE.

OXFORD.

The Dark Blues have made great improvement during the short period that Mr. A. E. Kitchen has had them in hand, and it is generally regarded that his school duties at Shrewsbury compelled him to resign his position as coach. It had been stated that Dr. P. C. Mallam would succeed him, but unhappily Dr. Mallam cannot take up the duties for some days.

One piece of bad luck has ready been met with, in that W. S. Llewellyn (Balliol) has been compelled, owing to a slight strain, to give up his place at stroke. A. C. Morphet (Brasenose), a New South Wales oarsman, going from No. 2, has stroked the crew fairly satisfactorily, but Llewellyn had to go for recovery on Friday as he was able to take a turn in the tub pair with P. W. Murray-Threapland who, after rowing at 3 in the early stages of practice, has now settled down at 7. H. B. Arber (Wadham) being moved to 3.

Should there be a recurrence of Llewellyn's strain, and Morphet be found unsatisfactory, the president has another alternative. M. C. Graham (Magdalen), although he has been in undisturbed possession of the bow thwart throughout the week, has shown great ability at stroke, and it was only by the narrowest of margins that he failed to lead his crew to victory against Llewellyn's in the Trial Eight race in December.

R. N. McCulloch (New College) who earlier in the practice was rowing 2, has gone back to his old seat now that the president has to undertake the coaching, and J. W. Barbour (Brasenose) has for the last three or four days been at 4, although this is probably the president's eventual destination.

The order of rowing and the weights were: M. C. Graham (Shrewsbury and Magdalen) (Sydney University and New College), 12 st. 0 lb.; H. B. Arber (Charterhouse and Wadham), 12 st. 4 lb.; J. D. Barbour (Shrewsbury and Brasenose), 12 st. 7 lb.; G. M. Brander (Edinburgh Academy and Exeter), 13 st. 2 lb.; G. E. Godder (Bedford and New College), 12 st. 5 lb.; P. W. Murray-Threapland (Eton and Christ Church), 12 st. 5 lb.; M. C. Morphet (Geelong and Brasenose), 12 st. 0 lb.; G. V. Stoppard (Radley and New College) (cox), 8 st. 13 lb.

FARMER'S DEATH MYSTERY.

ANALYSIS SEQUEL.

WIDOW'S STORY OF POISONS.

COLLEFORD (Gloucestershire). A tangle of circumstances attending the death on January 10th of Mr. Harry Pace, a 36-years-old sheep farmer, of Fetherhill, near Coleford, is likely to require skillful unravelling in consequence of an analysis of his stomach organs which the coroner has ordered to be made.

Following the first examinations, which have been made in the laboratory of Bristol University, Prof. I. Walker-Hall, the pathologist, has found it necessary to seek certain further information from medical men who saw the body after death.

The situation at present is such that it may be necessary further to postpone the inquest, which had been adjourned for a month.

Pace had been a patient in Gloucester Royal Infirmary from July to October last, suffering from neuritis, believed to have been caused by the presence of arsenic in his system.

The theory has been advanced that the arsenic was introduced by sheep-dip, in the use of which his wife has told the police he was extremely careless. After his removal home his condition improved greatly until a few days after Christmas.

A Box Of Poisons.

To-day Mrs. Pace, a woman of about 35, made a statement in the Evening-room of her lonely hillside home. Speaking with her family of 6 boys and girls seated at her feet, she said:

"During the week before Christmas my husband, while I was absent from the house, asked my 6-years-old boy to fetch a box containing what I believe are poisonous lotions for the treatment of sheep from the kitchen to his bedroom.

"This box, which was on the top shelf of a high cupboard, had been regarded in the house as almost sacred, and my husband allowed no one to get near it.

"I was astonished, therefore, when I learned from the boy that he had been ordered to take it upstairs. I went to my husband's room and put the box in a chest of drawers. I asked him for what purpose he wanted the bottles brought to him, but the only reply he gave was, 'Oh, nothing, nothing'.

"On the morning of Christmas Day my 17-years-old daughter Dorothy went to the bedroom to light a fire, but my husband told her not to do so. Dorothy saw a green bottle with a poison label lying in the fireplace, and she placed it on the top of the chest of drawers.

"She told me about this, and I went upstairs and put it back in the box in one of the drawers. I asked my husband if he had taken any of the contents, and he replied, 'No, no, I don't know'.

"I believe the bottle contained a preparation for sheep foot-rot." While the pathologist has been at work the police have been making close inquiries into some aspects of the case. Special attention has been paid by them to a history which Mrs. Pace has given of occasions on which her husband threatened to take his life. Regarding this, she also said:

"I do hope, in fact, I believe, that the pathologist's report will show that my husband died a natural death, as our family doctor certified.

"My husband gave me the impression that he had no ill intention when I asked him about the discovery of the bottle in his room, but I am bound to state that many times he threatened to murder me and the family, and to commit suicide.

Tongs And A Razor.

"While in hospital he declared that if I did not take him home he would throw himself from a verandah, and on Christmas Day, after the finding of the bottle in his bedroom, he dragged himself downstairs with great difficulty and threatened us with a pair of tongs and a razor.

"His condition became worse a few days later, and I had to call in a doctor.

"I mentioned the bottle and razor incidents to several persons. 'If I have made any mistake at all, it is only in having agreed to this wish to take him home from the hospital and, because he was unable to write, in having signed a declaration that I would be responsible for him'.

Mrs. Pace is making arrangements to leave this part of Gloucestershire immediately the inquiry into her husband's death is finished.

"GRENADIERS ALL."

PRINCE OF WALES AT HAPPY REUNION.

"GREAT BOND OF FRATERNITY"

NOTTINGHAM. The Prince of Wales was given a great reception, when he honoured old Army friends in this district by attending the annual dinner of the local Grenadier Guards Comrades' Association.

It was a distinguished assembly, unique in the annals of the Association, for among the company were old Guardsmen who entered the service thirty, forty, and even fifty years ago.

Captain J. E. Greenwood, the international Rugby player, who succeeded the late Lord Mansfield as president, was in the chair. Of the 370 guests, scores actually served with the Prince's battalion in France and Belgium. Others present were able to recall pleasant associations at Caterham, Warley, Wellington, or Chelsea Barracks.

Picture For The Prince.

The oldest Guardsman present was Mr. George Day, of Burnham Street, Nottingham, who has just completed a charming painting of Trent-side, showing the Prince's farm in the distance, which was presented to the Royal guest.

One feature of the reunion was a reproduction of an extract from a letter written by Sergeant William Tennant, a Nottingham Guardsman, to his wife after the Battle of Waterloo, in which he gave a graphic account of the battle.

Tennant, for his own gallantry, was promoted Colour-Sergeant, and he stated in his letter that the title of the regiment had been changed by the Prince Regent in commemoration of its having defeated the Grenadiers of the French Imperial Guard.

On entering the hall the Prince was struck by a novel floral design of the Prince of Wales's feathers illuminated by bright miniature electric lights. The feathers were worked in white tulips on a ground of golden tulips and mimosa, encircled in scarlet tulips to complete the design. The background of lilacs was surrounded by white lilies, yellow tulips and foliage.

"When the toast of 'Our Patron' was given by the Chairman, Cheers were called for the Prince by Lord Henry Seymour. "Give him a Grenadier's whisper," shouted someone, and reverberating cheers followed.

"Once A Grenadier."

The Prince, after expressing regret at the absence of the Duke of Connaught, who, he stated, had been Colonel of the regiment for nearly a quarter of a century, said:

"There is a great bond, a great fraternity, among those who have had the privilege of serving in the Regiment (applause) and who are entitled to the distinction of being a Grenadier.

"There are a few serving soldiers here to-night, but all of us who have served will remember the saying 'Once a Grenadier, always a Grenadier.' (Loud applause.) We shall always remember our connection with the Regiment, and those of us who are able to help the Association, or any branch of the Association, are very happy indeed to do so.

"There has never been a period of years—I mean over the ten years since the Armistice—when Comrades' Associations were more needed or when they have had better opportunities to justify their existence. The Grenadier Comrades' Association has more branches than any other Comrades' Association in the Brigade of Guards, and from all I hear, your Nottingham Branch has made the best of its opportunities. (Applause.)

"Although 'always a Grenadier,' I am now Colonel of the Welsh Guards, which were formed in 1915 by 500 Grenadiers, and the regiment can be very proud of its child. It is the youngest and junior regiment of the Brigade of Guards, and I should like to say we are going very strong indeed.

"We have, apart from the battalion, a very strong branch of our Old Comrades' Association in Cardiff, and one in London, which is to celebrate its birthday in a few weeks' time. We maintain the spirit of the Brigade of Guards, and the spirit of the regiment.

"I can assure you that those Guards have made good and are living up to the right tradition. Comrades, there is nothing gives me greater pleasure in any city, and I travel a good deal up and down the country than to visit, if there happens to be one, an Old Comrades' branch of the Brigade of Guards, wherever regiment it might happen to be. (Applause.)

"I can assure you I am very happy indeed to-night to have had this gathering, and to have had such a very kind reception from so many of my old regiment in which I am very proud to have served. (Loud applause.)

POLICE CONNING TOWER.

OBSERVATION POST IN TRAFALGAR SQUARE.

GRANITE BOX.

A solid granite conning tower, for the use of the police in times of emergency, has been erected for the east side of Trafalgar-square, near the entrance steps of the Bakerloo Tube. This massive tower, whose proportions have just been revealed to public view by the partial removal of the hoarding, will take the place of the old wooden police telephone box, which, in recent years, has been more useful than ornamental.

Whenever a demonstration is held in Trafalgar-square it is essential that the police should be able to keep constantly in touch with headquarters at New Scotland-yard so that extra police may, if required, be immediately drafted to the spot.

An experienced police inspector will be in command of the conning tower. He will be in direct telephonic communication with headquarters by private wire, will also be able to see everything that is happening in the square, and to give his orders accordingly. No matter how turbulent the crowd may be, the granite fortress is impregnable to attack, and so sound-proof that the softest whisper will reach the official ears at Scotland-yard. A powerful search lamp, which surmounts the tower, will illuminate the whole square at night.

American Express
Travelers Cheques

Definition of TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES—
 "The system of Travellers' Cheques was originated in 1851 by the American Express Company with the object of creating a form of travel currency which would give the holder the security of a letter of credit and at the same time the convenience of local currency. The Company registered the cheques under the trade name of 'AMERICAN EXPRESS TRAVELLERS' CHEQUES' the word 'Travellers' being spelled with one 'l'. The advantage of the Cheques was so apparent that other banking institutions adopted the system."

Quoted from Fittman's Dictionary of Banking by Wm. Thomson.
 Issued in £10, £5, £2, £1, and £0.50, and £0.25, and £0.10.
 Cheques are issued in a small, handy wallet—and cost only 1/2 of 1 per cent.

Secure your travelling tickets, hotel reservations and disbursements, plan your cruise or tour through
